Windfall Evidence

Appendix C Windfall Evidence

Evidence for Windfall Allowance

The NPPF states that local authorities may make allowance for windfall sites where there is 'compelling' evidence that such sites have consistently become available within the District and contribute to the overall supply. The NPPF continues that any allowance should be realistic having regard to the Strategic Housing Land Availability Assessment and history windfall delivery rates. The NPPF defines windfall sites as those which have not been previously identified and should not include sites within residential gardens.

To establish a windfall allowance Lichfield District Council has looked in detail at the information collected through the SHLAA process since it began in 2008 and any site which had not been identified through the local plan or was a permission granted on residential land has been identified as a windfall site. The results are shown in Table C.1 below.

Year	Number of Windfalls granted Planning Permission	Gross Completions delivered from windfall sites
2008-2009	16	197
2009-2010	72	75
2010-2011	33	131
2011-2012	33	89
2012-2013	64	66
2013-2014	44	128
2014-2015	107	89
2015-2016	185	116
2016-2017	191	218

Table C.1 Windfall Sites

Tables C2 - C10 include all of the newly identified windfall sites which have been granted permission each year and are used to calculate the Districts windfall allowance.

Table C11 lists all residential completions which have come forward from windfall sites within each year.
